

SEEN, HEARD AND TOLD BY THE EDITOR

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard.—Acts 4:13.

With all of this discussion about the proposed change in the State Constitution, I find myself unable to advise folks what to do, as, very frankly, I myself don't know what to do and don't myself know how I am going to vote. My rule about voting on constitutional questions is just not to vote at all if I do not have real knowledge and convictions on the subject. That's about what I will do on December 21st just not vote at all. That, of course, is a purely negative approach to the matter.

We have printed and delivered the ballots, also absentee ballots to Miss Cornie Perry at the courthouse.

We hope Mrs. R. R. Cheatham of Yazoo City will be pleased with the Christmas present her sister, Mrs. Sam Gillon, is sending her - a subscription to the GCW.

Hope Ike Worsham, suburban merchant and minnow seller, will be pleased with the present he is giving himself, a subscription for himself.

Julia Talbert, our temporary greeter, will, we hope, continue to bring in the ads and that she earns enough to buy some extra gifts for her many grandkids because that's about all grandmas want with money anyway.

Dorothy Bailey served as our subscription agent Sunday while she was down eating with Mrs. Bloodworth. Mrs. Knox Kinger of Clarksdale wanted some advice about what Grenada paper to take. Dorothy not only gave her the proper advice but brought in a check for $3.00 Monday. Thanks, Dorothy.

Mabel said that G. C. Grady, the new Buick dealer, was a nice, courteous young gentleman and she told me that Grady was earnestly seeking to show folks that Buicks were not only sold in Greenwood and Jackson, but in Grenada itself.

The series of farm pictures we have been running certainly discloses what, indeed, a beautiful rural section Grenada County has. This series costs me and Al Gully a good deal of money, but we think the money is well expended.

Buddy Biddy, newly elected president of the Wildlife League certainly has a big job and, we hope, will use his undeniable talents to produce real and lasting results. In the office, there is the very important job of setting up housekeeping on the reservation near Lonesome Pine.

Christine Rhodes said I made a mistake about the Kirk picture of the farm. I said Dave Dogan built the house. As a matter of fact, Christine's papa, Jack Rhodes, and some of his brothers built the house. Writing only from memory, it is a wonder I did not make more mistakes than that.

If necessary we can print Christmas cards the day before Christmas, but we hope you will wait THAT long. Anyway, we have a lot of them available, but none of those fancy expensive ones for the rich.

Dr. and Mrs. Millard Costlow, now of Columbus, Georgia, are to get the GCW as a Christmas present from their Grenada friend, Mrs. Claire Allison. Good, that makes about all of the Costlows on our mailing list.

By the way, Claire had a good idea about Christmas presents, something like the GCW which will last a year. A gentle hint to others.

Elsewhere in this issue is a legal notice inviting bids on the building of the McQuay plant.

We hope to be present at an informal dinner given by the power co. at city hall next Wednesday evening.

Town Talk
BY FRED ROBINSON

We were saddened to read in this paper of the death of Bob Townes. He was a fine gentleman and in the course of his vacation helped a great many people along the way. After his name and friendly personality has dimmed into the past there will be many lives brightened by Bob's efforts to persuade men to leave behind them funds to care for their widows and children, and most of them wouldn't have done it except for Bob's persistence. Like the old song which says "It's better to have loved and lost than to have never loved at all" is the fact it is better to have lived and died than to have never lived at all. I often think of myself as having not lived at all. You see, Jesse Armstrong Robinson and his wife Margaret Cressy Robinson could have had only four boys and two girls instead of five boys and two girls and that would have meant I wouldn't have lived at all. So however tough the going seems at times I shall be most appreciative that I AM and that it was a gift of God, and I do want to be grateful. They say there's a strip of water off the coast of Vancouver B. C. where there is no sound. The spot is acoustically dead. You can't hear the swish of the sea-gulls wings, you can't hear the whistle of the steamers or the fog horn of the ocean liners. You just don't hear a thing in that area. Well, that's how it is when you haven't lived at all. No chance to leave any footprints, no chance to leave any memories if you hadn't lived at all. Well, now that we ARE living just what should we be doing about it? Life, you know is a gift of God and God has reasons and purposes for everything He does so we are here and now for some purpose. A young mother said to her pastor a few minutes after her new born baby had died: "I know now that babies are the gift of God", the preacher said "didn't you know that before?", the mother said, "yes, I have known for months I was going to have a child, but I had taken it for granted, but now I know babies ARE the gifts of God really and actually."

Every year at this season we Baptists are reminded of our obligations to those brave and noble people we refer to as Foreign Missionaries and we make offerings in the name of Lottie Moon, who spent 39 years in Pingtu, China preaching, teaching and helping people have a better life. I wanted to know more about this saintly lady so looked up her record. Charlotte Moon was born December 12, 1840 at Albemarle County, Va. While she was teaching school at Cartersville, Ga. she heard and answered the call to foreign mission service and was appointed in 1873 for educational work in North China. For 15 years she labored sacrificially in lonely Pingtu. In 1888 she wrote an appeal to the newly organized Women's Missionary Union of the Southern Baptist Convention. She said "I would I had a thousand lives that I might give them to the women of China. I wish you could send us two women to help at Pingtu." Not two women went, but three answered that call. During the Christmas season of 1912, while Miss Moon was on her way home to America, she became ill aboard ship and died on Christmas Eve day in the port of Kobe, Japan. And who would say about the life of Lottie Moon that it would have been better to not have lived at all than to have lived and died in a lonely cabin of an old ship anchored in a far-away harbor on Christmas Eve?

Some may believe that all the sacrifices of Lottie Moon and hundreds of others like her were wasted on the people of China now that the communists have destroyed most of the work done by missionaries, but not at all. Listen to this little story. Once some men wanted to raise a sunken ship but all efforts were of no avail until they built a huge barge and secured it by chains to the sunken vessel and waited for the tide to come in. The waters swelled under the barge and the barge came upward and upward bringing the vessel be-

Achievement Banquet For 4-H Club Members Held Here

At the annual banquet meeting of the 4-H Club members of Grenada County Monday evening at City Hall, approximately 200 members, parents and friends attended, ate a fine meal prepared and served by members of Progressive Home Demonstration Club, and heard many interesting speakers, among them Mr. C. I. Smith, the State 4-H leader. Jerome Hammonds presided as toastmaster, assisted by Byron Hunter, who is head of the 4-H advisory council.

A most interesting program, including the rendition of America by the entire group, was held.

Among the winners, announced were: John Frazier, Wayne Little, W. A. Hayward, Jr., David Little, Jerold Clark, Sales Martin, and many, many others.

The advancement of the 4-H work in this county has the backing of most business and professional interests in this county, including the county board of supervisors itself.

Cotton Referendum Is December 14th

Cotton acreage allotments for the 1955 crop have now been established for all eligible farms in Grenada County and each cotton farmer will be notified by mail of the acreage allotment for his farm before he votes Tuesday, Dec. 14. Mr. Groce Carver, chairman of the county ASC committee, says Cotton marketing quotas are set up by law as a method for assuring each grower a share of the available market for cotton.

"Persons voting in the referendum Tuesday are not voting for or against acreage allotments," explains Mr. Carver. "In other words," he continued, "We already have the allotment law and the Secretary of Agriculture has declared that we will have cotton acreage allotments."

Marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1955 crop of cotton only if approved by at least two-thirds of the cotton producers voting in the referendum December 14. If quotas are approved, the level of price support to cooperators will be 90 percent of parity, but for those producers who exceed their acreage allotment, price support will be 50 percent of parity.

Because the power and strength of the tide water was stronger than anything man could build. And that's how it will be in China one day. The Power and love of God will raise those misguided people to the surface again and Mottie Moon's work will have helped.

Additional theme decorated the James home.

Draping the brides' table was an embroidered cut work cloth of rose linen, and the centerpiece was the tiered cake, beautifully frosted in white and petal pink. Casting a soft glow over the picture table were cathedral tapers.

SEEN & TOLD BY THE EDITOR

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard.—Acts 4:13

Kids don't seem to have too much respect for Santa Claus. Some of them have slipped in and got most of the electric bulbs from the tree in the square. A lady was telling Mabel about a little boy in her neighborhood who told his mama a long list for Santa to bring him and when she told him that Santa could not bring all that stuff, the little boy said, then he'll get with Santa Claus.

Not seeing Bob Townes walking jauntily by, with a good word for everyone, makes Grenada seem distinctly unright.

Andrew and I went to fishing one afternoon last week and, together caught 6 fish. We must of forgot to look at the almanac.

See where our subscriber, Mrs. W. S. Neal, has moved from Bonita, a to Bastrop, La.

And, speaking of Neals, Jim Neal recently paid his dues.

Through the years, it looks like I have been able, or thought I was, to advise our readers on EVERY subject, but I have gotten older and now admit that I don't know everything, about every subject. Hence, on the election coming up on December 21 I am going to keep my mouth shut about how OTHERS should vote and now admit that I myself don't know how I will vote. Unquestionable it is a BIG subject and cannot be settled by myself. Whatever the voters may do, may be wrong.

Time, it is said is a great healer. It could easily happen that, after a passage of time, this question of segregation and desegregation will work itself out. Let us all hope so.

You know, that is a cute little Christmas tree in the glassed-in space above the Trust Bank's door. I just imagine that Mrs. Ray had a lot to do with that.

Looking at the square Sunday morning, I first thought, well Christmas is over. It looked like the kids had stolen all or nearly all the fancy Christmas bulbs from the tree, and that "after Christmas" was already here.

It looks to me that Edith Hays is prouder of that new grandson (Frank's little boy) than a cat would be of a whole litter of choice kittens.

Our cat Buckingham don't seem to be craving any rats, just want a bellyfull of chicken scraps.

Little John Ends pulled out with his papa Sunday for their home in Baton Rouge. It took a good while to get his bag of pecans, his pirate outfit, etc. loaded into the car. John, tho somewhat inclined to be anti-social, is a buster.

The faithful always show up. Here is a charter member, Henry Ray Sr paying his dues. Thanks.

We are cutting off a fellow who we were giving the paper to because, when he moved, he was not interested enough to notify us that he had changed address.

For some unholy reason, we got a notice from Memphis that Mrs. John Keeton was not getting the paper there. It was just one of those inexplicable errors that creep into a mailing list. She was not even supposed to be getting a paper in Memphis.

Here's a chance for some pretty gal. Billy Horton has a standing invitation for such a one to eat Christmas dinner with him. Line up on the right, please.

We just finished about 26 boxes of Christmas cards for Dr. Rayford. After looking after his patients, he spent the rest of Sunday addressing them.

And here is an order for two boxes from one of my "cousins", Mrs. N. Z. Troutt of Charleston, free state.

Brad Dye, Jr., whom I saw for the first time Saturday, is a likely young fellow who drove the car for Jim Eastland last summer and, on the side, sorter courted Jim's biggest gal.

Kenneth Toler reported that, so far, only two papers, mine and Lamar Sledge's, were out for J. P. Coleman. I was for Mary Cain four years ago, and tore my shirt for her, but, in my opinion, Mary ain't got a chance sweet as she is.

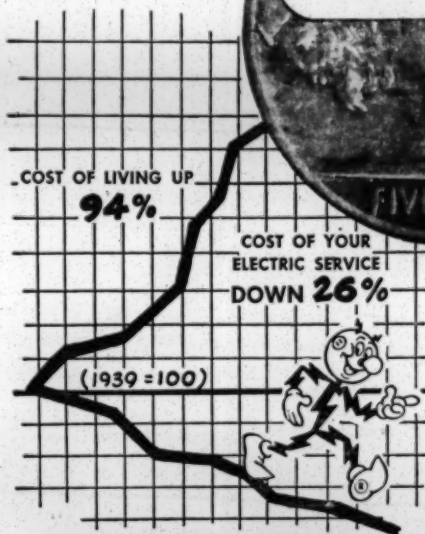

If Julia Talbert, who is helping us get up a Christmas edition, fails to see you, we are always here waiting for greeting ad orders.

ELECTRIC SERVICE

Suppose the merchants in your town had a sale offering all goods... groceries, clothing, furniture... at 1939 prices! What a sale that would be... for the cost of these items has gone up 94% since 1939. Yet you get an even better bargain than this every day from Mississippi Power & Light Company... for you are paying 26% less for your residential electric service than you did in 1939.

In spite of the fact that operating costs have increased 134%, Mississippi Power & Light Company—by adopting new, improved methods of generation and transmission, by practicing economy in its daily operations, and through increased usage on the part of its customers—has been able to reduce the cost of your residential electric service 26% since 1939.

The Living God

Lesson for December 12, 1954

DO ALL men "yearn for God"? Plainly, they do not. Many ignore him, many wish they could be sure he did not exist, some even spend a good deal of effort trying to show that there is no God. Many even so-called religious people, church members of the more lukewarm sort, cannot by any stretch of the imagination be said to "yearn" for God. Some people are so flabby by temperament that they never yearn for anything or Dr. Foreman anyone in their whole lives. Like oysters, they take what comes their way and think as little as possible. Nevertheless and for all that, the longing for God is the deepest longing of which the human heart is capable. Those who have known this desire know that there is no other which is so intense.

Only the Living God Satisfies

Men do cry out for the living God, as the Psalmist said. Men do not really care for dead gods. A deity who is only a name, a definition in a catechism, an article in a creed, a hypothesis in a philosopher's mind, a concept, an idea; a god who is spun like cobweb out of a thinker's brain, a god who is another name for a wish, a god who is no more than a mirage, a reflection of a man's own ego on the blank curtain of empty eternity,—such a god no one wants. It is only the living God who satisfies. Indeed, the great saints have always believed that only the living God could inspire in men this deep desire for himself. But what is meant by the "living" God? First of all it means the weaver of destiny. A God who made the universe and threw it out to whirl forever untended and forgotten, might be a majestic deity but not the living God for whom the saints have yearned. The living God is one who is here, now, weaving at his loom of time and space, living in the hearts and minds of his children, controlling by his providence the course of history, "preserving and governing all his creatures" as an old creed expresses it. To such a God we dare to pray; of such a God we may expect concern, a hand stretched out to lift the falling.

God the Friend

"God is my friend" is the most stirring thought a man can have. A God who could not be a friend but only a creator, a judge, would not be the living God of the psalmists' prayers. Yet when we speak of God as a friend, we have to avoid two mistakes. One is to think that he is a friend to all alike, that it makes no difference at all to him what we do, he is for us no matter what, that whatever we pray for he is bound to do for us. No: as we were thinking last week, God can be against men. He will not say "Yes" to foolish or wicked prayers. He is for good and against evil, and he plays no favorites. Another mistake is to think of him like some human friends, persons who wish us well but can't do anything else about it. Human friendship is often no more than weak and helpless sympathy. The friendship of God comes from the heart of reality itself. In spite of our human friends we may be destroyed; but as St. Paul put it, If God be for us, who can be (successfully) against us?

The Unchanging God

Both in the Bible (as in Psalm 102) and out (as in Christian theology) we hear about the unchanging or the unchangeable. God. We have to be careful to think of this as the Bible shows us, and not to make a caricature out of the idea. God is the living God; let us keep that in mind at all times. He is not unchanging as a statue is. A doll is made smiling; cuddle the doll or leave it in the rain, and the doll smiles on. But God is no doll! God is not unchanging as a formula is in mathematics. Any mathematical law, any law of physics or astronomy for instance, is unchangeable; but it is not a living thing; it knows nothing, it cares for nothing, it can be used by evil men and good. God on the contrary is the divine person, not a what, not a thing, but infinite, personal, loving,—our Father. His unchangingness is not the sameness of a doll, not the inflexibility of a formula. It is the changelessness of a fatherly love on which his children can now and always depend.

SOIL CONSERVATION

(By Rex E. Blue, SCS)

Approximately 700,000 pine seedlings will be available through the Grenada County Soil Conservation District to farmers who are interested in planting steep and eroded areas on their farms to trees. These seedlings will be furnished without cost to any farmer who will agree to properly plant and protect the seedlings from fire and grazing.

The tree planting program is one phase of a soil and water conservation program designed to provide better land cover through proper land use. A recent land capability survey indicates that approximately 65 percent of the land in Grenada County is best suited for production of timber.

Farmers interested in planting seedlings are encouraged to contact Soil Conservation Service or Forest Service workers at their County Agricultural Building as soon as possible. ACP assistance is available to help pay the cost of planting the seedlings.

Mr. J. B. Keeton is taking advantage of good soil and weather conditions to install drainage ditches and diversion terraces on his farm in the Red Grass section. Mr. Keeton has a good stand of oats that were drilled in sod in his permanent pasture.

All ponds constructed during 1954 with ACP assistance must have the dams and spillways vegetated with a permanent type sod such as bermuda before certification may be made for payment.

"Farm of the Week" - Last Week

—This Series Sponsored by Jitney-Jungle, Grenada.

The farm headquarters shown last week was that of the Botelers in the Riverdale section of this county, 3 miles north of Grenada, and in Beat 4. There is much history to be told about this section of the county, and we regret that we were unable to interview Mr. or Mrs. Boteler in order that we might, indeed, recount many of the interesting details of the place and its history.

The home of the elder Boteler family, as well as that of E. L. Boteler

Jr. and family are shown in the photograph.

The elder Mr. Boteler is considered one of the most progressive farmers of this county, while the son is on the ball, agriculturally speaking, all the time.

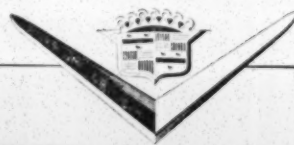

The place was once owned by Hurd Horton of Grenada, but, previous to that, to the Collins family and the property was settled way before the Civil War. It is located in what could well be called "an old settled country" near Riverdale, an old "stop" on the I. C. Railroad.

The picture of the homesteads and surrounding area will give the reader, unfamiliar with the scene itself, a good idea of how well the property, which is used for strictly diversified farming, and cattle is "kept up."

Again, we regret that some of the owners did not get in in time to permit us to give greater details of the farm and its operation.

Cadillac

The Hour Every Motorist Owes to Himself!

The happy man you see in this picture is bringing himself up to date.

Cadillac has written a whole new chapter for the book defining motor car performance, and he's taking an hour to find out what it says.

And it says plenty—of very great importance.

First of all, it tells you what it's like to have command of a 250-horsepower engine that's as smooth as velvet, and so quick and eager that you have to educate your driving toe all over again.

It tells you what it's like to have virtually every unevenness in the highway completely eliminated before it is even noticeable to driver or passengers.

And it tells you what it's like to relax amidst upholstery fabrics and leathers that are found nowhere else, save in the 1955 Cadillac—not even in the finest clubs or hotels.

All this is to say, of course, that Cadillac has made another tremendous advance in design and engineering—so great, in fact, that only a drive and a personal inspection can let you realize its full significance.

And, naturally, there is yet greater emphasis on all the long-existing Cadillac virtues:

—the endurance that enables a Cadillac owner to keep his car just as long as he elects to do so . . . and with complete confidence in its dependability—

—the amazing economy of operation and upkeep which causes many owners to maintain that it is the most economical car on the American highway—

—the great personal satisfaction that comes from owning a car which is recognized, wherever highways lead, as the Standard of the World.

We cordially invite you to come in—today—to see and drive this wonderful, wonderful car.

There are eight models—in four different series—including the sensational Eldorado.

There is one to please you—exactly. And we think you'll be surprised and delighted at how little it costs, in comparison with lesser cars.

We're waiting for you—now!

Trip On Train To Be Educational Project For Christmas Season

Fifty one of the seventy seven children enrolled in Gore Springs Elementary School will be riding a train for the first time when they board the I. C.'s No. 3 in Grenada and ride to Winona on December 13th. This school-sponsored excursion is the culmination of plans made by the children and their teachers Mrs. Howard Rose, Mrs. Tom King and Mrs. T. G. Hamby with the cooperation of railroad officials.

After each child had brought a signed statement giving parental permission for the trip, the children computed the cost of the railroad fare and mileage for the county owned busses which will transport them from Winona back to Gore Springs. The teachers deposited ten cents to each child's credit in a bank and 'cashiers' were elected to enter further deposits made by the children until the total cost of the trip had been deposited. Many other learning activities will be centered around the railroad.

The children elected to take the train trip rather than to draw names and give Christmas gifts, as has been customary in the past. They are confident that the substitution will provide a merry and educationally lasting experience.

Mrs. Floyd Pinkerton drove over from Winona Thursday afternoon and accompanied her mother Mrs. C. L. Trussell on visits with Mrs. D. M. Trussell and Mrs. J. G. Shaw.

Mrs. Annie Leverette returned home Monday on a visit in the home of her son Johnnie Leverette in Grenada.

School closed Wednesday, Dec. 1 at noon for students to view the Christmas Parade. Many had the privilege to see the biggest and best parade in the history of the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Abel and 3 children and Mr. and Mrs. Hemphill Abel returned from Wynne, Ark. on Thursday after attending funeral services for Mr. John Sherman, father of Mrs. Maxwell Abel.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Marter and boys of Batesville were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Phillips.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Marter included Mr. and Mrs. Don McDonald of Grenada.

In observance of the Week of Prayer, members of the WMU in Pleasant Grove Baptist Church assembled for an all day meeting Monday in the home of Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Middleton. Participating in the program were Mesdames H. I. James Sr., Billy Shaw, Hiram Davis, Russell McWhorter, J. B. Bailey, Jim Moore and Earl Gillen.

The Gore Springs Chapter of the FFA entertained the FFA Chapter at an informal social the night of November 30. The new FFA camp at Grenada Lake provided a perfect setting for this event. A wood fire glowed in the huge fireplace the television reception was very good, and there was a variety of tunes available from the radio. However the 'Bunnyhop' seemed to be the top tune. Delicious refreshments were prepared and served by the girls.

Rev. and Mrs. Middleton Entertain
The home of Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Middleton was the scene of a delightful courtesy Thursday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Middleton complimented the deacons of Pleasant Grove Church and their wives at dinner.

Tables placed in the reception rooms were beautifully decorated with the Christmas colors radiating from branches of natural evergreens interspersed by sprays of red berries. Potted plants were placed at points of vantage throughout the house. The guests served their plates from the dining table, draped with an exquisite cut work cloth. The basket of green cedar and red berries placed in the center was flanked on either side by red and green tapers in silver candle holders.

Silver service and chrysal were arranged at each table. The menu consisted of baked ham, scalloped potatoes with cheese, English peas, congealed carrot and pineapple salad on lettuce, hot rolls, coffee and dessert of charlotte russe with ice cream.

Mrs. Middleton was assisted by her daughter Lyane Middleton. After dinner, the group joined a social hour of games and the singing of Christmas carols.

Present to enjoy the Middletons hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. H. I. James, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gillen, Judson Dorroh, H. V. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gillen. Not present were Mr. and Mrs. Billy Shaw and Mrs. H. V. Phillips.

Grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chamberlain are receiving congratulations over the arrival of their second grand child a girl born to Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Cooley Monday night in Greenwood Leflore Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Spratt Jr. and son of Waterville and guests Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Cornett of Alabama City, Ala. visited Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Trussell Saturday afternoon.

A student from Miss. College will be guest speaker in Providence Church December 12th at the regular hours of service. The public is cordially invited to be present to hear this minister.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gillen visited their aunt Mrs. J. E. Scarbrough in Houston Hospital on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Scarbrough's condition is improving after a serious illness.

Rev. Wiley Youngblood of Duck Hill was a visitor in the J. W. Vance home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. T. L. Sledge went to Grenada during the week to receive treatment for his eyes.

LIGHTER AND BRIGHTER CHRISTMAS

Start early this year to plan your Christmas decorations. If decorating with light is new to you do not attempt anything elaborate. Keep it simple. Decorating the outside of your house can be fun. Originality is the chief asset. Check over your supplies from last year and see that everything is in good, useable condition. It is not difficult to obtain materials; most of them can be secured locally.

Doors, windows and shrubbery offer a good opportunity for colorful decorations. Festoons may be used to emphasize the lines of your house. They produce a very pleasing effect. With a lamp of contrasting color highlight the point at which the direction of the festoon changes.

The simplest of all decorations, and often the loveliest, is the decoration of the doorway. Decide on something that will be colorful in the day time, then use weather-proof spot or flood projector lamps to highlight the effect at night. Be sure cord sets are also weather-proof, or heavy rubber with water-tight sockets. If colored lights are used, they should be outdoor lights with coloring on the inside of the bulb.

High on the list of oldtime favorites for door decorations is the traditional wreath of holly or pine with its perky red plastic bow and string of outdoor Christmas tree lights. If you would like to supplement this, add two stately red candles placed at the columns or sides of the doorway. The candles are made especially for outdoor decorations, stand about five feet high, are painted red, have tallow drippings, a base or holder and a handle. If you are clever with tools you might make these at home.

Vary the door decorations by using strings of bells, a pair of Santa's boots or use wide red plastic bands across the door to give the effect of a gift-wrapped Christmas package.

For the windows use wreaths, bright stars, any of the various arrangements of electric candles or one of the popular pattern "cut-outs" appropriate for Christmas.

Do not overlook the garden or shrubbery when planning your decorations. A Christmas tree in a window may be spotlighted and the trees and shrubbery about the house floodlighted. If you have low shrubbery, interesting silhouettes may be obtained by placing colored S-11 lamps on the ground between the house and the bushes. These bulbs should, of course, be shielded.

There are various lighting effects, ornaments and designs which can be used throughout the house. The fireplace especially lends itself to simple decorations such as Christmas greens, lights, candles and appropriate Christmas figures.

This year why not decorate the picture window? On a low table, or platform, arrange a nativity scene, use greens to form a background of trees, with straw for the roof of the manger. At the upper right of the window fasten a 75-watt R3 spotlight with a blue lens (in a wall-type holder), focus it on the manger. This creates a beautiful picture both from inside and outside of the house.

For Christmas decorating the first step is to make your plans, then assemble your materials and you will be half way toward accomplishing your goal. Very little skill is required; a minimum of time and a maximum of patience will achieve a result that will be heart-warming and satisfying.

The exciting new idea behind the motoramic Chevrolet

The Bel Air 4-Door Sedan—one of 14 new Fisher Body beauties in three new series

Maybe once in a car-buying lifetime, you come across something that breaks all the old patterns and establishes new ones. This is that kind of car. This is the true story of how Chevrolet and General Motors shaped a new idea in steel.

Like most good ideas, this one is pretty simple. Chevrolet and General Motors set out to build the first low-priced car that would:

- bring you the very freshest and finest styling to be had.
- bring you the most advanced engine design and engineering features.
- bring you the kind of performance and the kind of ride that have never been available before in a low-priced car.
- bring you the highest quality of manufacture and materials.

All this in Chevrolet's price field? That did take some doing! And isn't it logical that only Chevrolet and General Motors have the people, skills, resources and facilities, to carry out this exciting new idea? Here is how this new Chevrolet changes all your ideas about cars!

Real Show-Car Styling!

Your eye tells you the Motoramic Chevrolet is no styling "patch-up" job. A rakish, low profile . . . soft swiftness from its sleek rear fenders to its wide-eyed Sweep-Sight windshield . . . a new outlook for motoring. And that outlook doesn't change when you slip inside . . . exciting fabrics and trim are harmonized with the whole car.

A Sensational Ride!

You live the new idea instantly . . . you glide . . . actually glide because spherical joints "roll with the punch" of the road in Chevrolet's new Glide-Ride front suspension. And outrigger rear springs mean new balance in turns . . . turns made so effortless by new ball-race steering. And when you stop suddenly, new Anti-Dive braking control checks that nosing down in front . . . you get "heads up" stopping. Tubeless tires mean much greater protection against blowouts. And with new high-level ventilation there's fresher air.

Drive with care . . . EVERYWHERE! Make December 15 and every day SAFE-DRIVING DAY!

Power Beyond Compare!

You also feel the new idea quickly . . . quick power like a panther's paw with the new "Turbo-Fire V8" (162 h.p.) and two new "Blue-Flame" 6's. And sparking this performance is a 12-volt electrical system giving you better ignition, faster starting, greater electrical reserve for any of the power assists you might desire. You have a transmission choice of economical Overdrive and improved, automatic Powerglide (optional at extra cost) or standard shift.

Even Air Conditioning!

And if you desire the convenience of power assists (optional at extra cost) . . . you'll find new power-steering and improved power brakes on all models. Power-controlled windows and powershift seat are available on the Bel Air and "Two-Ten" models, while air conditioning may be added on V8 models.

Won't You Try It?

Here, we can only tell you how rucers fully the Motoramic Chevrolet expresses the new idea behind it. But the car itself can quickly show you. Come in for a demonstration drive, won't you, first chance you get.
